Club Presidents Report

Hi All,

Friday 31st July saw our 2014/2015 Annual General Meeting. The outgoing Committee was replaced by the ingoing Committee which happens to be the same. Congratulations to all yet again. It was not until the Annual Reports were read out that we realised what we had achieved during the year. It was fantastic to see PGL was hired for a total of 184 hours. Our two very busy Instructors, Kevin and Charles doing 87 hours instructing with 4 to 5 students at various stages of training, well done guys. Thanks also to Claude for being our Returning Officer yet again.

9th August at 0830 hours just before our Monthly Competition started saw the raising of our new Northam Aero Club flag. We were very honoured to have had Keith Walker alias The Phantom doing the bugle honours. Keith was the very first bugler to play at the Gallipoli Landing Memorial Services, we were all very impressed with his performance. Thanks Keith. The 25 year Membership pins were then presented to John and Sandra Voak and Lila Tame, Congratulations.

Be aware that our website has been under attack again and thanks to Claude for reconstructing the site with its new address at www.northamaeroclub.net.

Upon arriving at the airfield at 0800 hours we were all treated to a ballooning spectacular, 3 balloons were over the airfield on a perfect morning with one landing on the runway. Imagine the spectacle of 20 or more balloons in the air for the National Ballooning Championships at the end of August, not far away now. Get in the spirit of the championships and be a part of this very special event.

Thanks to MJ for your tireless effort towards the publication of our Fly About magazine. After moving from Darwin to Melbourne he now has work commitments all over Australia but still manages to put together our magazine every month, thanks once again Martin.

Cheers for now, happy flying,

Errol

The National Ballooning Championships will be held from 28th August to the 5th September 2015.

We have had a wonderful response from competitors so far with many interstate competitors registering as well as competitors from China and Hong Kong.

Planning is well on track for the competition side of things and we are now seeking volunteers who would be interested in being involved. No experience is necessary as training will be provided.

We need people who are interested in crewing for balloon teams. This will involve retrieving and navigating around the valley, working as a team with balloonists to inflate and pack up balloons and generally having a great time with all matters ballooning. We also need target and measuring teams to be on site where markers will be dropped and happy to measure and record information that will be scored.

The Aero club catering committee is also looking for volunteers to help with setting up the club room and catering throughout the week.

We have also had requests from balloon teams looking to rent houses for the week of competition. If you have or know of someone who has self contained accommodation available and happy to rent it out for the week please get in touch.

All in all it will be a busy week, early mornings and a whole lot of fun.

FLAG RAISING CEREMONY

Sunday the 9th August saw the ceremony for the first raising of our new flag.

Former Australian Army Warrant Officer, Keith (the phantom) Walker, who served a lifetime as a musician, and played the Last Post at the First Gallipoli ceremony way back in 1990, which at the time was the 75th Anniversary, was on hand to play a trumpet medley for us to symbolise our flag raising event, finishing up with "Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines".

The day beginning - balloons landing at the end of the runway, shades of what is to come in a couple of weeks time when the National Ballooning Championships are held at Northam Aero Club .

Our President Errol couldn't control the wind on Sunday so we settled for stringing the flag out to get the most important shot of the day

Flight Safety australia

For July-August Flight Safety Australia looks at military aviation and how air forces, armies and navies have revolutionised their safety culture and slashed accident rates over the past 30 years. We investigate how they did it and ask what civil aviation can learn.

We also speak to RAAF Squadron Leader Steve Ferguson, who discusses aviation safety management, and why it's essential to 36 Squadron's role of sending C-17 transport aircraft safely anywhere in the world where they are required. Nine months after the launch of CASA's dangerous goods app we take a closer look at our number one dangerous good-lithium batteries. We ask if prohibiting them as airline cargo will improve aviation safety or merely lead to mislabelling and batteries being sent undeclared. Small but dangerous examines the humble wasp and how its nest can block pitot tubes, fuel tank vents and drains.

Contributor Kreisha Ballantyne takes a look at some of the tired, well-used phrases in aviation, and their dangerous implications in The clichés that can kill you. There is nothing harmful in deploying catchphrases and idioms in aviation as long as one avoids clichés like the plague! In this issue our US contributor, Thomas P. Turner, looks the harsh facts of general aviation crashworthiness. In It was almost all over: the destruction of China Airlines flight 120 contributor Adrian Park investigates how an incorrectly installed bolt in a slat track caused a devastating fuel fire after the plane had taxied to the gate in Naha Airport, Okinawa. Without warning: the startle factor examines the startle response, and the need for training in non-technical skills to recognise and manage these sudden events.

Think you've got what it takes to be Top Gun? Our Flying ops, Maintenance and IFR quizzes are live now at: www.flightsafetyaustralia.com/avquiz. Take the quiz, test your knowledge, share your results and challenge your friends. The popular SDR section and close calls-including an audio story about lack of crew resource management as they fly into an approaching storm front, complete the issue. Flight Safety Australia's July-August edition is now live on the App Store and Google Play. And don't forget that these stories will also appear over the life of the issue, (July-August) on www.flightsafetyaustralia.com
